Educational Booths

PURPOSE

- FFA Educational Booths are designed to showcase the benefits of Agricultural Education and FFA membership. These displays can be used in various settings, including FFA Week events, local fairs, or community gatherings. The focus is on presenting engaging, Agricultural Education and FFA.

BOOTH SPECIFICATIONS

- Size and Structure: Booths should be tabletop displays using a 6' table that is 28" to 32" in height and width.
- Display boards should measure 4' X 8' and be constructed of ½" or 5/8" material. Boards should have two 2' wings and a 4' center back panel for easy setup.
- Back of Display Board: Painted in dark blue or black to maintain a clean, professional look.
- Table Covering: Chapters should provide their own table cover and skirting to cover the entire table down to the floor.
- Electrical Access: Outlets will be available for booths needing power.

CONTENT FOCUS

- Booths should focus on FFA's three Program of Activities (POA) divisions.
- Growing Leaders – Highlight leadership and career development activities. Include visuals or interactive elements that show how FFA builds future leaders in agriculture.
- Building Communities – Showcase community involvement and service. Examples might include chapter outreach projects, community service, or partnerships with local organizations.
- Strengthening Agriculture – Emphasize agricultural education, industry connections, and sustainability efforts. Demonstrations, visuals, or interactive elements should illustrate FFA's impact on the agriculture industry.
- Each booth should clearly display the local chapter name and highlight all three divisions.

DESIGN STANDARDS

- Brand Alignment: Follow FFA Brand Guidelines for colors, fonts, and logos to ensure consistency.
- Booths should highlight activities and impacts relevant to the three POA divisions: Growing Leaders, Building Communities, and Strengthening Agriculture.
- Booths are encouraged to include engaging features such as videos, QR codes linking to online resources, or interactive components relevant to each POA division.

BOOTH DIVISIONS

- Booths will be divided into two categories:
- Mechanical Division: Booths that incorporate powered displays, such as moving parts, fans, lights or electronic devices.
- Non-Mechanical Division: Booths without powered elements, though static lighting is allowed. Flashing or rotating lights are not permitted in this category.
- Each chapter may enter in one division only.

AWARDS

- Awards given to First – Third Places
 - 1st Place: $200 and plaque
 - 2nd Place: $150
 - 3rd Place: $100

*Grand Champion and Reserve: Rosette

FFA News Reporting

This contest recognizes individual FFA members for their skills in creating newsworthy articles and photos that highlight the achievements of fellow FFA members and/or their local chapter. Members are encouraged to submit these stories to various forms of print and broadcast media.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- News Story: Submit one (1) news story, written in manuscript form, not exceeding three (3) double-spaced, typewritten pages.
- Photograph: Include one (1) 5"x7" color or black-and-white photo related to the story.
- Presentation: Each page of the story and the photograph should be mounted on a large sheet of black poster or matte board, preferably with protective covering.

TOPIC:

- The story must focus on a subject related to Agricultural Education and/or FFA.

JUDGING CRITERIA:

- Entries will be evaluated on the basis of news value, readability, and organization.

NEWS REPORTING SCORING RUBRIC (35 POINTS TOTAL)

- Readability: The story is easy to read, with clear language and minimal errors in grammar, spelling, and punctuation.
- Organization: The story has a logical flow, with a strong beginning, middle, and end. Each part is cohesive and well-structured.
- Photography: The photograph is high-quality, relevant to the story, and enhances the overall presentation.
- Presentation: Pages and photograph are neatly mounted on black poster or matte board, with protective covering as needed.
